Abstract:

The Waiting Hut is a local Community-based Organization that works around increasing supervised births in the rural areas of Eastern Highlands Province and Papua New Guinea. The goal of The Waiting Hut Inc. is to “Reduce maternal and perinatal mortality and morbidity rates in the Eastern Highlands of Papua New Guinea”, and we achieve that through our two (2) core strategies or intermediate outcomes, i.e., Increased supervised births & Increased antenatal coverage and uptake of modern Contraceptive Methods.

THE WAITING HUT INC., ITS VISION, MISSION AND VALUES:

- ❖ The Waiting Hut Inc. is a local Community-based Organization in the Eastern Highlands of Papua New Guinea providing support to local provincial health authorities through supporting rural community health facilities to increase supervised births, and to increase antenatal coverage and uptake of modern contraceptive methods. The Association was registered under the Papua New Guinea Investment Promotion Authority and Papua New Guinea Internal Revenue Commission in 2021.
- ❖ In order to meet our aim, we acquire building materials, equipment, tools, beddings, food supplies, and accessories for temporary accommodations at rural health centres; secure funding for maternal and child health outreach programs for ongoing service delivery; improve and maintain antenatal clinics and delivery facilities in rural areas; install medical equipment, solar lighting, and ensure essential supplies; conduct training for health workers on antenatal care, family planning, and safe delivery practices; establish partnerships with local leaders and NGOs to provide maternal health services in conflict-affected areas; conduct awareness campaigns to increase antenatal care and contraceptive uptake in conflict-affected areas; establish a monitoring and evaluation (M&E) system to track program performance and assess impact; conduct training for staff on organizational management, resource mobilization, and program sustainability; and strengthen internal monitoring and evaluation systems to support data-driven decisions and program adaptation.
- ❖ At The Waiting Hut Inc., our values shape our actions and decisions as we support community health in Papua New Guinea's Eastern Highlands. Here's a concise summary of our core values:
 1. Compassion: We deeply empathize with rural women and their families, understanding and addressing their unique challenges with kindness and understanding.
 2. Respect: Every individual, regardless of background or circumstances, is treated with respect and dignity, fostering an inclusive environment where everyone feels valued.
 3. Collaboration: We believe sustainable change can only be achieved through working together. We actively seek partnerships with local health authorities, stakeholders, and community members to provide comprehensive support.
 4. Integrity: We uphold high ethical standards, ensuring transparency, honesty, and accountability in our operations to responsibly utilize resources and funds.
 5. Empowerment: We empower individuals and communities to take control of their own health and well-being by providing information, education, and training.
 6. Advocacy: We raise awareness about maternal and child health issues and advocate for the rights and needs of rural women and their families, influencing policies and practices for positive change.
 7. Excellence: We are dedicated to delivering high-quality, evidence-based services. We continuously evaluate our programs to ensure effectiveness, efficiency, and responsiveness to community needs.

Through embodying these values, we create a nurturing environment that promotes the health and well-being of rural women and their families, while upholding the principles of compassion, respect, collaboration, integrity, empowerment, advocacy, and excellence.

GUIDING PRINCIPLES OF THE WAITING HUT INC.

We are driven by a set of principles that guide our efforts to support community health and their aim to reduce maternal and perinatal mortality and morbidity rates in EHP and PNG:

- ❖ Community-Centered Approach: We prioritize the needs and aspirations of the local community, actively involving community members in decision-making processes and respecting their voices. This ensures that our programs are tailored to their specific needs.
- ❖ Collaborative Partnerships: We recognize the importance of working in partnership with local provincial health authorities, stakeholders, and other organizations. By establishing collaborative relationships, we leverage resources, share knowledge, and enhance the effectiveness of our programs.
- ❖ Accessible and Equitable Services: We are committed to support the provision of accessible and equitable healthcare services for rural women and their families. This includes temporary accommodations, medical equipment, supplies, and training opportunities, ensuring that everyone, regardless of socio-economic status or geographic location, can access the care they need.
- ❖ Holistic Approach to Maternal and Child Health: We understand that addressing maternal and child health requires a comprehensive approach. We focus on increasing supervised births, antenatal coverage, and the uptake of modern contraceptive methods. Additionally, we address social issues such as gender-based violence and empower women through education and support.
- ❖ Sustainability and Resource Mobilization: To sustain our programs and initiatives, we actively seek funding from various sources. We explore innovative fundraising methods, secure partnerships, and implement responsible resource management practices to ensure long-term sustainability.
- ❖ Capacity Building and Training: We recognize the importance of skilled healthcare professionals in delivering quality services. That's why we conduct training programs for health workers in rural health facilities, equipping them with the necessary knowledge and skills to provide effective care.
- ❖ Addressing Social Issues: We acknowledge the challenges posed by tribal fights and substance abuse in certain areas. We establish partnerships and programs that reach these affected communities, addressing not only healthcare but also the underlying social issues that hinder progress.

By adhering to these principles, The Waiting Hut Inc. aims to make a meaningful impact on the health outcomes of rural communities in the Eastern Highlands. We strive to promote safer childbirth practices, combat gender-based violence, address climate change through solar energy, and empower women, ultimately improving overall maternal and child health.

THE FIVE (5) OUTCOMES AND THEIR OUTPUTS OF TWHI:

1. Increased access to supervised births in rural health facilities

- Output 1: Acquire building materials, equipment, tools, beddings, food supplies, and accessories for temporary accommodations at rural health centres.
- Output 2: Secure funding for maternal and child health outreach programs for ongoing service delivery.

2. Increased antenatal care coverage and greater uptake of modern contraceptive methods.

- Output 3: Improve and maintain antenatal clinics and delivery facilities in rural areas; install medical equipment, solar lighting, and ensure essential supplies.
- Output 4: Conduct training for health workers on antenatal care, family planning, and safe delivery practices.

3. Improved maternal and child health service delivery.

- Output 5: Establish partnerships with local leaders and NGOs to provide maternal health services in conflict-affected areas.
- Output 6: Conduct awareness campaigns to increase antenatal care and contraceptive uptake in conflict-affected areas.

4. Improved program management, accountability, and adaptability.

- Output 7: Establish a monitoring and evaluation (M&E) system to track program performance and assess impact.

5. Improved organizational capacity and financial sustainability of The Waiting Hut Inc. for long-term impact in rural health.

- Output 8: Conduct training for staff on organizational management, resource mobilization, and program sustainability.
- Output 9: Strengthen internal monitoring and evaluation systems to support data-driven decisions and program adaptation.

The purpose of TWHI is to support the existing rural health facilities with the above outputs/activities to enable us to achieve our two (2) intermediate outcomes and achieving our goal in the long run.

CURRENT ACTIVITIES OF THE WAITING HUT INC.:

Current activities for TWHI included supporting rural facility’s temporary shelters, The Waiting Huts, which are usually built from local bush materials like the one on the left picture below, or a semi-permanent structure like the one on the right picture below. These temporary shelters are constructed differently depending on where the location of the rural health facility is located. It would be inappropriate to construct a waiting hut with open airways for a temporary shelter at the top of the mountains because it is usually very cold, and a round hut is more suitable for the users of the waiting hut in such locations.

BENEFITS OF THE TEMPORARY SHELTER OR THE WAITING HUTS

The temporary shelters, known as waiting huts, provided by The Waiting Hut Inc., offer numerous benefits to rural women and families in the Eastern Highlands of Papua New Guinea. Here's how these waiting huts enhance the well-being of women (their husband and children) in rural communities:

- ❖ Accessibility to antenatal services: Rural women can stay closer to rural health facilities, reducing the long and challenging journey. Living in these temporary accommodations for a few days up to three (3) months allows them to access regular antenatal care during the crucial last trimester of pregnancy.
- ❖ Safety and protection: Waiting huts provide a safe environment for women and their families, protecting them from rough terrains, tribal conflicts, and substance abuse issues they may encounter during their journey or in their communities.
- ❖ Postnatal support and care: After childbirth, waiting huts offer a space for women to recover and receive postnatal care. It ensures mothers can rest and newborns receive their first immunizations, promoting health and well-being.
- ❖ Access to family planning services: Waiting huts provide an opportunity for couples to access modern contraception before returning to their villages. This empowers individuals to make informed reproductive health decisions and plan their families.
- ❖ Skill development and economic empowerment: Women can acquire new skills, particularly in cooking nutritious meals, improving family health and nutrition. Selling prepared meals also creates income generation opportunities, contributing to economic empowerment.
- ❖ Information dissemination and awareness raising: Waiting huts, equipped with solar-powered lights, serve as platforms for sharing vital healthcare, family planning, and nutrition information. This empowers rural women with knowledge that positively impacts their lives and communities.

Through these waiting huts, The Waiting Hut Inc. uplifts and empowers rural women and families. Increased accessibility to healthcare, postnatal support, family planning, skill development, and information dissemination improves overall health, well-being, and empowerment in rural communities.

A. BIO DATA OF CO-FOUNDER & CHAIRPERSON OF THE WAITING HUT INC.

Dr. Freda Wemin is the Provincial Obstetrician and Gynecologist at the Goroka Provincial Hospital. She is the Head of the Department of O & G. A Senior Medical Officer in Women's Health, she looks after the health of women in Eastern Highlands Province, and her role brings her across the eight (8) districts of the Eastern Highlands of PNG, providing onsite training/coaching and supervisory role support to all cadres of health workers. Dr. Wemin is also the Director of Emanuel Family Clinic, her privately-owned clinic where she operates after-hours and during weekends and/or public holidays. Dr. Wemin is always available to serve women who do not have time to join the cues in the public settings, and often provide her medical services to women from corporate sectors at very minimal charges. Her service at Emanuel Family Clinic is open to clients from across the Highlands Region, and women come to her clinic as far as the Southern Highlands.

She has translated her passion into community services after serving as a specialist medical officer for many years. Her work took her around PNG, serving in rural health facilities to the main centres, from the coast to the highlands of Papua New Guinea. Through her experiences working to save lives in rural communities, Dr. Wemin recognized the increasing number of preventable deaths at the rural health facilities. This prompted her to think and plan strategies that could resolve issues leading up to these preventable deaths. Starting as a personal contribution to support rural health facilities with cash or kind, Dr. Wemin slowly resorted to activities to raise support for rural health facilities. This involves small fundraisers to raise cash and/or kind to support initiatives such as buying food rations or putting together baby bundles for certain rural health facilities. Over the years, her small steps of support has caught the attention and ignited a passion amongst her close friends and colleagues, who saw the need to support local health facilities to build a transit home for pregnant women and their families to move closer to a health facility when they reach full term pregnancy. Providing small baby bundles for unfortunate mothers and also making the facility friendlier and safer for women and children to utilize whilst seeking medical assistance are the main objectives of the group back then. And this gave birth to a small group called, The Waiting Hut, focusing on reducing maternal and perinatal mortality and morbidity in Eastern Highlands.

Dr. Wemin has conducted trainings and capacity development programs for Community Health Workers in Midwifery Upskilling throughout Eastern Highlands. She is currently the Chairperson of The Waiting Hut Inc. and a technical advisor to both The Waiting Hut Inc. and Walk the Talk Against Cancer, a fundraising initiative of the Catholic Church which has raised almost K150,000.00. The monies raised from Walk the Talk Against Cancer was distributed to both Eastern Highlands Provincial Health Authority and Sir Joseph Nombri Memorial Hospital, Kundiawa.

Dr. Wemin is in charge of Women's Health in Eastern Highlands Province, and she is a very strong advocate for prevention of cervical cancer, and early diagnosis and treatment of cervical cancer. She has Masters in Obstetrics & Gynecology, has extensive experiences and networks in the medical profession, and is a member of the PNG National Doctors Association and PNG O&G Society, the Women Doctors Association. She has worked on and supported several projects in partnership with organizations such as Marie Stoppes International, UN Women PNG Country Office, Climate and Faith-based organizations.

Dr. Wemin participates in many volunteer roles aimed at improving women health situation in Eastern Highlands and Simbu Provinces, and include going out in partnership with the private sector through the cervical cancer screening program. One of her outstanding signature in this area was the Cervical Cancer Screening Program in Daulo District in 2021 which revealed 40% of women screened were living with early cervical lesions needing early interventions. Many women were saved from developing cancer of the cervix through early interventions such as cauterization and surgery. A full narrative report, accompanied by its financial components, was presented back to the District Administration of Daulo District, and influenced the budget to increase funding for women's health in the district.

She currently serves at the Goroka Provincial Hospital as the only Obstetrician & Gynecologist for the entire Province, serving half of the 800,000 population of Eastern Highlands.

A motivator herself, Dr. Wemin is often being engaged by different organizations to speak on Women's Health and the importance of early detection and screening of cervical cancer and other related women's health issues in Papua New Guinea.

She resides in Goroka, Eastern Highlands Province with her family and can be contacted at weminfreda@gmail.com or on cell phone number +675 7598 5742 or +675 7026 0491

B. BIO DATA OF CO-FOUNDER & SECRETARY OF THE WAITING HUT INC.

Pamela Bobola Krisimpa is a committed social entrepreneur and Principal Consultant of SoundHouse Consulting, working to foster social impact and community empowerment in Papua New Guinea. With a focus on poverty alleviation, women’s empowerment, and sustainable development, she leads training programs that build skills among parents, youth, health workers, and SME owners, equipping them to address economic and social challenges.

Her expertise spans Women Empowerment (women’s economic empowerment, health, agriculture, climate change), and GEDSI (Gender Equality, Disability, and Social Inclusion). Recently, Pamela was engaged in April 2024 to develop a customized GEDSI training module for ACTUP PNG—a partnership involving the PNG National Department of Health, PNG Institute of Medical Research, and the Kirby Institute at the University of New South Wales. She trained 100 health professionals and associates in the HIV sector to promote inclusion and help reduce HIV spread. As a leader in governance and safeguarding, Pamela has partnered with organizations like UNICEF, UN Women, Oxfam, and local authorities to promote gender equity and resilience. Her strong public relations skills enable her to forge partnerships that enhance project impact and expand grassroots access to essential resources.

Pamela is also experienced in project management and evaluation. In 2023, she served as External Evaluator for Oxfam in the Pacific’s Good Governance and Social Accountability Project, funded by DFAT Australia, conducting a midterm review to assess governance outcomes. Additionally, she conducted the endline evaluation for CARE International’s Highlands Emergency Response Project in Jiwaka Province, in 2024, focusing on outcomes of shelter, protection and agriculture interventions for internally displaced people in 3 districts in Jiwaka Province. She has also developed strategic plans for the Eastern Highlands Provincial Health Authority's COVID-19 response and MAF Technologies, and child protection policies for local organizations, creating evidence-based frameworks that address immediate and long-term community needs.

Pamela has been recognized for her research skills as one of the recipients of the Pacific Research Colloquium through the Australian National University in Canberra, Australia. Through SoundHouse, she has enabled grassroots communities to access digital technology, identity documentation, and banking services, empowering them to secure loans and improve economic livelihoods. Her initiatives promote financial literacy and resource access to uplift rural economies.

As Co-Founder and Secretary of The Waiting Hut Inc., Pamela focuses on maternal and child health initiatives in rural Eastern Highlands. She also consults for the Ministry of Environment Conservation & Climate Change, leading tree-planting projects and cervical cancer screening programs in partnership with Daulo District authorities.

Pamela holds numerous leadership roles, including Vice President of PNG-USA Alumni (2024-2026) and Secretary of the International Childbirth Initiative's Eastern Highlands Chapter. She is the Founder of the Highlands & MOMASE Women in Micro & Small Enterprises Forum and serves as an advisor and board member across various organizations. Her affiliations include the EAROPH Pacific Chapter, Eastern Highlands Provincial Lukautim Pikinini Council, Soroptimist International (Goroka Chapter), and PNG Australia Awards Alumni Association.

She resides in Goroka, Eastern Highlands, with her family and can be contacted at p.b.krisimpa@gmail.com or +675 7063 2300.
